Dig down to the cause of your sick ess, if you want to get well and stay well. Most likely it's indigestion. The irritating poisons of fermenting, putrid ood, left in the stomach by indigestion cause headache, neuralgia, nervousness, lizziness, stomachache, nauses, irritability, and all the other well-known symptoms of indigestion.

They also cause many pains and dis orders which are often laid to other causes and hence are not easily cured. Contains every week a whole page of farmers' experiences on crops and methods; a whole page of Short Cuts for farm and household work; a whole page of Mistakes, Failures and Successes, t-lling what to avoid and what to follow. It is the only paper for which T. B. Terry, of Ohio, writes. It has a Garden Department, a Stock and Dairy Department, Horticultural and Poultry Departments and a Home Circle Department, all of which are ably Sunday school every Sunday, at 9:30 edited by well known, practical and experienced editors. It publishes the latest news of the world, a complete and reliable market report, and answers through its columns all questions on any farm topic sent by subscribers. If you farm one acre or a thousand acres, you need The Practical Farmer. Its price is $1.00 per year, but by a special arrangement we are enabled to offer it and THE SENTINEL, both one year for $1.75. A postal card to The Farmer Co., Philadelphia, will bring you and your friends sample copies. Send for them.

Those who talk volubly upon their joys and their griefs are not generally those who are capable of the profoundest happiness or the most intense suffering. Those who can put into ready words the sanctities of love, and fluently express all its hopes and fears, have seldom penetrated to its depths. Those who utter girbly and unrestrainedly all their upward strivings, their centiments of contrition, their feelings of reverence, their desire for worship, are not usually the most truly religious or devout. For all that is highest, deepest, and most profound in human nature, silence is a better exponent than speech. Not only truth of such things, but they are them-
